

Cohen and Wolf Sponsor of Chris Manno Baseball Classic

06.03.2012

Cohen and Wolf, P.C. was one of the sponsors for the Christopher Manno Baseball Classic in Ridgefield, a one-day tournament of 16 teams which raises funds for an annual scholarship for graduating high school seniors in the name of Chris Manno, who passed away at the age of 12 years old, 10 years ago. The tournament is totally run by Chris' friends. (The fundraiser had previously been a golf tournament, but changed to a baseball classic three years ago.) Here are pictures of Cohen and Wolf partner Joe Walsh, and his three sons (Conor, Tim and Jack), each of whom participated on a team. Chris' parents and sister participate in the tournament, and are very grateful to all those who arrange the tournament and scholarship each year.
